TWO WEDDINGS

Announced, One for Tomorrow Night, The Other for November 14th.

Yesterday, Rev. George Sims, pastor of the south side Church of Christ, announced for tomorrow evening, at St. John's Church, the wedding of Miss C. J. Wenden, of Spencerville, and Miss Lillian McClain, of this city. The bride-to-be is a well-known seamstress and has been employed by Mrs. Vanhook for several years, and has a host of admiring friends.

Rev. Father Rupert, of St. John's church, yesterday announced banns of matrimony between Mr. Harry Bertram, one of south Lima's industries, and Miss Nellie Moran, daughter of Mrs. Henry Stahlin, of east Cincinnati street, who is popular with all who know her. This nuptial event is dated for November 14th.

Strawberries in Bloom.

Wm. Walderman, of Forest avenue, has, on his lot, a freak of nature in the form of a bed of strawberry plants which have been in blossom for several days. Mr. W. is proud of the plants.

Will Enjoy a Smoker.

Court Lima Foresters 560 will give a smoker to members only tomorrow evening in Solar hall, and a full attendance is expected, that the event may be the more enjoyable.

Brief Mentions.

Rev. F. G. Rupert has returned from Fostoria, where he preached last evening.

Burk's ambulance removed Edward Richardson from his home at 906 west Elm street to the city hospital. He was suffering from injuries sustained by being struck by a bicycle.

The wind blew over the derrick at the locomotive works, Saturday afternoon, barely missing a north-bound C. H. & D. passenger train. The debris has all been cleared away.

Mrs. George Swaney, of Spencerville, returned home this morning, after having been the guest of relatives in this city over Sunday.

Mrs. Maggie Mann, of near Richmond, Indiana, was a guest yesterday.

Her daughter, Mrs. Wherry, of Holmes avenue.

Mrs. C. C. Mack is quite ill with lung fever, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Brothbeck, on south Atlantic avenue. She is also the mother of Capt. John Mack, of the south side fire department.

This is the first time "Bank" DeVoe's vacation week, and he and family have come to Columbus to visit friends.

Mrs. Burley Irwin, of south Central avenue, received a letter Saturday from her brother, Artie Alexander, who is with an engineering gang in Cuba. He states he has had enough of Cuba, and would start for home on the 28th, (yesterday.)

Passengers on a Hoover lake car Saturday were given a slight shock to their nerves. The wind was blowing a gale, and the car was going at a pretty fair rate of speed, when the motorman was seen to suddenly apply the brakes and the car came almost to a stop. Then the motorman turned and asked, "Did I hit it?" At the same time the conductor made a similar interjection, but after looking to the rear said, "No, I guess not," and every passenger in the car turned to see—not a mangled child, nor a broken baby cab, but an old hat that the wind had carried under the car, and on up street. Then an extra conductor who was riding home to dinner told how, just a man went to get on his car, northbound, the wind lifted his hat and sent it whirling up Main street, and when the man started to get off the car and was told to wait, how the hat was followed clear to the court house and the car stopped with in eight inches of the hat. Talk about accommodation; how is that?

What has become of the old fashioned man who wore a red flannel undershirt?

There's a difference. The lot of a chaffing dish is watching things cook, but there doesn't seem to be any particular rush to get near the stove to watch the cabbage and potatoes go to pieces.

"He wants to be petted," we heard a man say today, speaking of a certain citizen. That's true of all of us, we like it, and if we don't get it about so often, we kick and scream, and hold our breath.

If we were a woman we would try awfully hard to do a good cook, if there were a lot of excited, hungry children watching the preparations in the kitchen, and a hungry husband somewhere on his way home.

Velvet is manufactured by placing in the loom rows of very short threads of the material designed to be employed, whether cotton or silk. These are then caught up by the cross threads in the weaving and fastened in such a way that the heavy ends present themselves all on one side of the fabric. The manufacture of velvet is so slow that for a hand weaver a yard is considered a good day's work. The machine made velvet is of course turned out much more rapidly.

"No," remarked the man who had traveled and had returned to the place of his birth, "the village is not what it used to be. Many of the old landmarks have vanished."

"What landmarks?" asked the native respectfully.

"Why, the town pump, for instance."

"Call that a landmark? I call it a water mark!"

Parental Influence.

"Sir," said the young man, "I trust you will object to my marriage with your daughter."

"Why so?" queried the astonished parent.

"Because," explained the young man, "if you do I think she will consent to have me."—Chicago News.

Yellowtail Fishing.

There are no "between rounds," no breathing spells, with the yellowtail. He is fighting for his life desperately, no quarter given, nor asked, with an amazing staying power akin to that marvelous faculty of the leaping tuna. The angler is far more likely to be the first one exhausted, the inches of line gradually granted to the "pumpkin" rod are earned by the sweat of his brow and the semiparalysis of the biceps.

"Have I got a fish or a devil?" exclaimed a weary Englishman after a half hour's work, with Sir Yellowtail still gamboling at the end of 200 feet of line. And many have shared his astonishment while "catching" these animated galvanic batteries.

That man has lived and lived intensely to whose "bending rod" a half dozen lusty yellowtail have capitulated in a bright afternoon. May his remaining history be ever so humdrum or prosaic, that crisp encounter will illuminate the dullest moments.—F. L. Harding in Field and Stream.

Brazil's Jungles.

The jungles of Central America and Brazil are masses of vegetation so dense that it is practically impossible to penetrate them. Spain and his party when crossing the isthmus of Darien labored hard with their hatchets and machetes the whole of one day and achieved but half a mile. In many parts of Central America the undergrowth renews itself so rapidly that it is almost impossible to keep a road open through it. In one instance in Honduras a road sixteen feet wide was made by engineers and laborers through a jungle the underbrush and vines being cut away even with the ground. Two weeks later, returning to complete the work by laying stones on the roadbed, they could not find the road, the vines having completely filled the vacant space.

AN INTERPRETATION

Made by the Inter-Collegiate Foot Ball Rules Committee.

RULE 5 IS CONSIDERED

And Decision Has Been to Allow Center to Pass Ball to One Side.

By Associated Press.

New York, Oct. 29.—The American intercollegiate foot ball rules committee after meeting in this city have issued an interpretation of the new foot ball rules. Under the decision of the committee the second umpire may be dispensed with, under rule 1, by an agreement of the athletic managements of the two institutions represented.

Considering rule 5, it was voted that in putting the ball in play the center rush may pass the ball back to one side and need not necessarily snap it between his legs. In either case the ball must leave his position while he is on the line of scrimmage, and must go first to a man who is behind the line of scrimmage.

Under the same rule it was voted that in case of a punt out, the catcher of the kick need not raise his hand as a signal for a fair catch.

The committee declared that the rule preventing hurdling is intended to apply only to the man carrying the ball and was passed to prevent a dangerous play. It is intended to allow "under hurdling in the line" stepping over a prostrate player, one foot at a time, even though both feet of the runner be momentarily off the ground at the same time.

The second under rule 11 which provides that no player of the side which has the ball shall be in motion at the same moment when the ball is put into play is construed to mean that this will not prevent a player from running backward from the scrimmage line toward his own goal line.

Under the section of rule 11 which provides that none of the five men occupying the middle position, center, guard or tackle, may drop back from the line of scrimmage on the offense the committee declared:

"If a captain, during the progress of the game, wishes to change a center, guard or tackle to a position in the back field, or to the position of end, he may do so by speaking to the referee, but no player thus vacating the position of center, guard or tackle, shall thereafter during the game go back to any one of the positions."

In discussion rule 14, exception 1, the committee decided: "When a forward pass touches the ground in the field of play, without touching the player of either side, when it is a touch. In both instances the penalty may not be refused."

"In all cases of unlawful forward pass was attempted the ball is dead."

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

Inquisitiveness encourages lying.
Don't send agents to your friends.
Everything is fair in love, war and politics.

Drug stores in big and little towns are "different."

Considering how popular it is, "I forgot" is a mighty poor excuse.

Give some people a guarantee, and they will compel you to make it good.

Do you enjoy having a fool come up to you and tell you what you should do?

How people love to gossip and how they do hate to be pinned down when questioned.

There can be a tremendous amount of talk without anything being accomplished.

A boy likes to whistle to hear himself whistle. When he grows up he talks instead.

We like nice weather, but we're no rig; we do not insist on it when the farmers need rain.

Another advantage the women have over the men is that there are no slot machines at soda fountains.

Ever notice with what solemnity a woman tells of her great sin in "neglecting her correspondence?"

When you step to a crowd, and the man who is talking stops, that's a sign you're not wanted there.

Nice out of ten stories on women are untrue; and the tenth one is a tragedy. Therefore don't "talk."

Manzan relieves instantly the pain caused by those blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles. It is put up in collapsible tubes in such a way that it can be applied where the trouble originates, thus stopping the pain immediately. Try one bottle and if you are not relieved, your money will be refunded. Try our free offer, sold at H. F. Vortkamp's drug store.

When a little girl names her doll for you it is a compliment, but when she is a grown woman and names her dolly for you, there may be another motive in connection.

AT DRY GOODS PRICES.

That's the whole story in a nut shell and one of the reasons why we sell so much of it.

No longer any need of sending out of town for wood to burn when you can get anything you wish in that line right here at home. This popular, practical and fascinating work has developed into a high art in a comparatively short time, but that is no reason for the prices to soar skyward, and here is where we come to your aid. We have bought this wood in large enough quantities that enables us to bring the price down where it belongs—which is about one-half of what you have been paying. Our sales on this one item alone in the past few weeks has been such a tremendous success that we are fully convinced that our patrons appreciate our efforts to give them their money's worth all the time, and more than their money's worth most of the time. A trip over town this week would not be complete without you stop in this store and look over the assortment of burnt wood and outfits. You will find a demonstration just inside the door showing you how easy the work is done—and the stock will prove to you how easy it is to make selections from this 3 ply bass wood. Prices range from

MARRIED IN WAYNE

Prominent Lima Business Man Groom in a Delight-

WILL RESIDE IN LIMA.

Sacred Vows Have Been Pledged by E. H. Kettler and Miss Evans.

The Ft. Wayne Sentinel has the following concerning the marriage of Mr. Emil H. Kettler, junior member of the well known furniture house of Neuman-Kettler company in this city: Kettler-Evans.

Miss Jane Evans and Mr. Emil H.
Kettler were married by Rev. J. Webster Bailey at half after 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Joseph Evans, 1205 Fulton street. The wedding was attended by relatives and nearest friends who numbered about forty people. The bride had her niece, little Delight Evans, as ring bearer, and instead of a "best man" the groom had his intimate friend, Burns Douglass, sing, "Still wie die Nacht" just before the ceremony. Miss Martha Kettler, a sister of the groom, played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bridal couple entered the parlor for the marriage service. The room was bright with the season's colors, supplied by a decoration of autumn leaves on their branches all about the bay window, and with branches of bitter-sweet and barberry vines entwined about the archways and the stairway. Pink chrysanthemums filled tall vases that stood on the floor. In the dining room, where refreshments were served after congratulations had been extended, the prevailing color was pink. Candles and their shades with pink ribbon and smilax decorated the table and flowers and shaded lights contributed beauty to the room. The bride looked even lovelier than ever in her gown of white crepe de chine, which was trimmed in hand embroidery and lace. Her bouquet was of brides roses. Among the guests were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.
J. Kettler and their daughters, Miss Martha and Miss Elsie, of East Wayne street, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Evans, of Chicago. The bride and groom left for an eastern trip without naming their destination and they were assisted in slipping away from the company by a cousin of the groom, Edmund Miller. The bride wore a brown cloth traveling suit with brown hat.
After November 15, Mr. and Mrs. Ket-tler will be at home in Lima, O., where the groom is in business. The bride has been assistant librarian at the public library for several years. She has a sweet, womanly personality, which is further enhanced by a general prettiness of feature and coloring and grace of movement. Mr. Kettler is a young man of sterling qualities and high character. He has been successfully engaged in the furniture business in Lima, Ohio, for some years.
Owing to a recent bereavement in the bride's family, the invitations to the wedding have been confined to the nearest relatives and a small number of intimate friends.—Fort Wayne Sentinel, Friday evening, October 26.

CONDUCTOR'S MISTAKE.

The train was about to depart when a stout old lady ran on to the platform in haste. The obliging guard pounced upon her, fairly lifted her into the carriage, and as he slammed the door the train steamed out of the station.
The first stopping place was thirty miles up the line, and when the train arrived the guard observed the old lady stepping out of the compartment in a state of boiling indignation.

"You nearly missed it mum," he said.

"Missed it! You silly ass!" fumed the old lady. "I didn't want to come by it at all. I simply wanted to post a letter in the late fee box on the train.
And now perhaps you'll tell me who is going to pay my fare back. Talk about the intelligence of man, I'd rather have a donkey to deal with!"

San Francisco has not officially asked the general government for help in creating a new city, bigger, better and brighter in every way than the city destroyed. It has been proposed that the United States government aid by guaranteeing bonds to help in the rehabilitation of the stricken city. The new San Francisco doesn't want any strings to her.

This is a singular case. A lawyer in Columbiana county, Ohio, died last fall, having no known relatives. It is reported that Gen. Reilly, an heirless lawyer, was the oldest attorney in the county and one of the wealthiest men in Eastern Ohio, having real estate valued at $30,000. He never married had no relatives, and now the attorney general of Ohio claims that this property shall go to the state.

The meat inspection bill went into effect on Oct. 28 and 288 plants have closed up, but some establishments have refused to do so. The states in which the delinquents are located are: Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, and Wisconsin.
The bill was signed by President Taft on Oct. 25, and the law is now in effect.

THE MODERN SPIRIT.

The newspaper of today is more than a forum for the promulgating of advanced thought. It is a mighty engine for good or otherwise, and this was, perhaps, never better exemplified than in the action of the Chicago tribune management of the Stensland case. On the strength of an uncertain clue James Keeley, managing editor of the paper, crossed the seas to confront the fugitive banker in Tangiers.

Morally he was entitled to the $5,000 reward offered for the capture of the fugitive. Instead of accepting the money he turned it over to the receiver of the bank, and in addition refused to accept from Cook county expenses incurred in the chase. In other words the Tribune felt content with the glory of having accomplished a real service to the people, and looked no further for a reward.

THE TRUSTS' CANDIDATES.

In the past the republicans have evaded the trust issue. But a new system has been developed and they have been "freed."

The National Federation for People's Rights, representing organized farmers, organized wage-earners and business-men, has questioned all the congressional candidates, asking them:
"If the voters will elect you, will you work and vote for a law that will establish a direct vote system for national issues?" And, "Will you obey instructions from your constituents when given by referendum vote?" That is the substance of the questions.

A candidate really aims to represent the people he can say yes. But if he owes his nomination to the trusts and they are paying his campaign expenses, he must say, no.

The republican congressional candidates have nearly all refused to pledge, while nearly all the democrats have pledged.

That tells the story. The trusts candidates have been "spotted." The next thing is to the voters to deal with them on election day.

DIRECT VOTING.

At the bottom of our political condition is the fact that the voters do not vote. If they did they could terminate all these evil influences which the trusts have created and which they are now trying to improve.

The reason the voters do not vote is that their power is completely degraded. There is no system whereby they can influence representatives.
They place a party machine in office and must accept whatever it does it is fit to enact, except as the people can intervene. But the judges are selected by the machine.

This final power in the few men in office was not the case until the rise of the convention system, some eighty years ago. Previous to that time the people instructed at will and by direct vote. This they did at town meetings in rural New England, and elsewhere at mass meetings.

To restore this privilege is the program of the non-partisan organizations that the questioning congressional candidates. All the candidates have been asked to work and vote for a national system whereby the people may instruct at will by direct vote.

The democratic nominees have pledged, for their platform declares for majority rule and they are not tied up with the trusts. The republican nominees have nearly all refused to pledge, thus demonstrating that they are the tools of the trusts.

The issue is clear cut. All voters who are intelligent and are not of the "machine" will vote for the establishment of their own sovereignty. Why should they vote for a ruler when they themselves become the ruling power?

WHAT WOULD BECOME OF THEM?

If the people could vote direct on issues what would become of Trust Kings? They would be shorn of their special privileges.

What would become of the corrupt lobbyists? They would have to go in to a better business.

How about the corporation-ruled senate? The people would establish direct election of senators.

Such being the case it is not to be wondered at that the republican nominees for congress are not pledging to work and vote for the re-establishment of the people's rule. The democrats are, and the voters will be the ruling power on election day. They can regain their sovereignty if they have the intelligence to vote right.

In Ohio the people have humili-atingly witnessed the spectacle of the mis-ridden Foraker and the imperious and infelicitous Dick in a combination for the selfish control of the republican party. Despite the warning of the last election in Ohio this dual combination became bolder and more aggressive in offending public opinion.

In the senate, Foraker with studied consciousness betrayed every interest of the people to his masters, the trusts and railroad corporations. He set himself up in opposition to the policy of the president on every possible occasion, and openly defended notorious bosses of the floor of the senate.

"Dick, equally brazen, but with far less intellectual equipment, now schemes to become the boss of the republicans of Ohio, a title at once in-ferable to the rank and file of the party and for which Dick is wholly unfitted either mentally or morally.

A powerful independent party is now striking at the misgiving Quay gang in Pennsylvania, a gang that back seems to emanate in Ohio, toward the Pennsylvania press and legislature. The spirit of independence which has already been more than emphasized in Ohio may be proof of even greater power in Columbian Dispatch, Rep.

DEFIANCE COLLEGE

Scene of Another Fire in the Ladies' Dormitory at an Early Hour.

TWO BLUFFTON GIRLS

First to Discover the Fire Which Started in the Furnace Room.

Two young ladies from Bluffton occupying a room on the first floor, immediately above the furnace room, were awakened and saw flames all about them, threatening the destruction of Trowbridge Hall, the young ladies' dormitory of Defiance College, 56 girls had a narrow escape. The loss is about $10,000, fully covered by insurance.

Six girls got out of the secondstory window by taking a clothesline, tying it about a radiator, and then sliding down to the ground. Each girl needed surgical treatment for her hands.

The building was dedicated a year ago last month, and was the gift of Eugene Trowbridge, a wealthy man of Defiance. It was considered the finest structure of its kind in Ohio. It was modern throughout.

The entire west end of the building was razed. The contents were not insured and the college will lose heavily.
The building and contents cost about $30,000.

President McReynolds is in the southern part of the state, but at a meeting of the local members of the board of trustees it was decided to rebuild at once. In the meantime the 56 ladies have been taken in by kind people who live near the institution.
The majority of the girls lost all they had.

MISSING WARE

Found at the Home of a Domestic.

The Latter Sentenced to a Thirty Day Term in Work House.

WITH PLEA OF GUILTY

The Accused Woman Faced the Charge in Mayor's Court Today.

Two Other Prisoners in Today's Grind Were Sent to County Jail.

Lena Bigelow, a south side woman, 22 years of age, was the principal defendant arraigned in mayor's court this morning. She was charged with larceny and as the missing goods involved in the case had been found in her apartments, there was little chance for escape from the stern visage of the law and she entered a plea of guilty to the charge.

Mayor Robb sentenced her to a fine of twenty dollars and costs and to a term of thirty days imprisonment in the Toledo work house.

The Bigelow woman was employed for some time at the residence of N. L. Michael, on west Market street, as a domestic and while employed there she carried quite a large number of valuable pieces of china ware to her home. Most of the missing articles were found at her home by Officers Hebern and Anderson who arrested her at a late hour Saturday night. Some dress skirts were also among the articles remedy ever did me the good that I derived from the use of Doan's Kid-whenever I have felt any of the

THE CRUCIFIXION

Should Not Be Missed by Anyone in Allen Co.

Mere words prove far too inadequate to do justice in describing "The Crucifixion," the $75,000 painting which will be exhibited at the Blum store, second floor, during the remainder of the present week.

The scene is that at the close of the world's greatest tragedy, when Christ, cursed, tortured and finally transfixed on the cross, commends His spirit into the hands of the Almighty.

In every detail, the marvelously real production stands out so vividly as to grow on one the longer it is looked at.

In the background, with faces lined with hatred for the stupefied man, the army stands, while in the foreground, nearer the foot of the cross of anguish is Mary, the blessed mother of the Savior, mother-like in being nearer Him in time of trouble.

The lights and shadows in the painting bring the perfect detail of one of the most impressive pictures ever painted.

From an artistic viewpoint, the painting is a marvel. From an instructive viewpoint it is a wonderful sermon and should not be missed.

FURS.

We take exceptional pride in the real STYLE of our stocks of Out-garments for women's wear this Fall and Winter. There's a certain distinctness you'll discover nowhere else—a distinction and character which sets them above the ordinary—in a class by themselves, so to speak. For the FIT is another point we've been careful about. Every Suit, Coat, Raincoat, Skirt and Waist is from practical, correct model and would fit the figure perfectly; but sometimes an alteration of more or less importance is necessary. That's where our workroom steps in to help with its skillful help, and makes such changes quickly and satisfactorily. Finally the prices of Women's Outer Garments are lowest—quality, style, fit and wear considered—as the most searching comparison will easily prove.

STORY OF A BOY

Who Preferred Watching the Theatre to School Room.

GIVEN A LAST CHANCE

But the Court Had No Alternative But Send Him Away.

This is the story of a boy—a little fellow just entering his teens, who will not sleep in the home of his parents tonight.

It is a story which the court wishes impressed on the minds of every other little school boy, and one in which the moral is plainly read.

Clyde Harper is the son of well-to-do parents over on south Pine street. His father is a skilled mechanic, and an employee at good wages at the Lima Locomotive & Machine Works. He loves his son Clyde, who has had every surrounding which would make him ambitious, and anxious to get on in the world. One of the things the parent greatly desired was that Clyde should have a good education, for this is the day when every little boy or girl must be educated to get on in the world. So Clyde's parents sent him to school year after year, and he was bright, learning his lessons well. Then this summer he became interested in shows—the theatre brand of show, and when fall came and the school bells rang again, Clyde, by a new suit of clothes was sent off for First Day. Then he came home and told what books he needed, and his father purchased the books.

But Clyde did not use the books this fall, and after nearly six weeks his teacher reported the matter, and the truancy officer was sent after him. The truancy officer told Clyde he must go to school, but the boy paid no heed. Then one day he was taken before Judge Hutchison, in the probate court of the big county capital. His parents were also summoned before the court and they told Mr. Hutchison they could do nothing with Clyde and for him to do what he thought best. Judge Hutchison told the boy he must either go to school or to the reform farm of the state at Lancaster, and in fact sentenced Clyde Harper to that state institution. But he suspended the sentence, and did not send the Harper boy to Lancaster, expecting he would be good again and go to school.

Clyde told his chums he got off easy, and did not go to school even after the judge had warned him.

So today, little Clyde Harper, led by one arm, stepped on the train, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Charles Baxter, who is taking him to the State Reform School at Lancaster, to stay as many years as the teachers there think are necessary. Tonight Clyde will sleep in this reform school and tomorrow morning he must bet up at six o'clock whether he wants to or not, and at eight o'clock he will be in the school room whether he wants to or not. Clyde will now go to school, but instead of seeing plays at the theatre, after school hours he will be forced to work for all the boys there are given each a certain amount of work to do.

There may be other little boys around town who are missing school. If their parents will read them this story about Clyde Harper, they may start in bright and early with their teachers again tomorrow.

Anyway, if they don't just tell them they must go to school if not in Lima, then at Lancaster.

MANHATTAN WON IT

Judge Dillon Decides Taxes Cannot be Levied Under Two Laws.

OHIO LOSES ITS CASE

And Judgment in Favor of the Company Has Been Rendered.

The Manhattan Oil company, of this city, has won the case instituted against it some months ago by Attorney General Ellis in his sensational attack for back taxes.

Regarding the decision the Ohio State Journal Says:

Judge E. B. Dillon decided the Manhattan Oil case on refusing to sustain the suit of Attorney General Wade H. Ellis for $127,370 excise taxes and penalties under the Willis law.

Judgment in favor of the company was rendered on the pleadings, and the suit of the state dismissed.

The taxes claimed were for the years 1902 to 1905, inclusive. The company admitted in its answer that it had not been paying the taxes under the Willis act, setting up as a defense payment of the taxes required by the Cole law, which covers public service corporations.

Judge Dillon holds that it is plain from the language of the statute that the legislature did not contemplate requiring any corporation to pay taxes under both laws. He finds that evident intention of the statute to be to place all public service corporations under the Cole law and all others under the Willis law.

He adds that the theory seems to be clear that the legislature did not contemplate a situation where one company might be exercising a franchise for private barter and gain and a public service business at the same time.

As to the attorney general's contention that it is unlawful for the company to engage in the business of buying and selling oil, when it has a franchise as a common carrier to carry and convey oil, Judge Dillon holds the legislature never contemplated the taxing of the exercise of unlawful right and no tax could be imposed by the statute upon a corporation for the

AWFUL DEATH

Officials Take Charge.
Prosecutor Albertson, Coroner Gaskill, Captain Woodruff and Chief of Police Maxwell, superintended the removal of the bodies from the scene of disaster. As each body was brought to the surface it was searched and the effects were taken in charge by Captain Woodruff. The valuables were placed in packages which were numbered and a number corresponding was placed on the body.

The divers were so completely exhausted by their continued efforts that they were compelled to suspend operations a short time before daylight. Their work was particularly arduous because the wrecking crews, which had been summoned to the scene of the accident, was unable to raise the submerged cars.

Fear Two Are Dead.
Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 29.—Miss Matha Hersch, of this city, and Arnold A. Tedesco, a New York traveling man, a friend of the Hersch family, are believed to be among the dead.

Together the couple started for Atlantic City, yesterday afternoon, and as they did not return last evening as planned, nor has anything been heard from them, it is feared by the almost crazed members of the young woman's family that the couple were on the ill-fated train and drowned. Miss Hersch and her companion left the home of the former in time to catch the train which was wrecked.

Band Member Saved.
P. Angrose, a member of the Royal Artillery band, who is reported among the dead, is safe in this city. He did not accompany the band yesterday but loaned his coat to a member who was without a uniform. The later was drowned and was identified as Angrose, by cards in the pocket of the coat.

More Divers Arrive.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 29.—A special train from Philadelphia reached the scene of the wreck at 7:30 this morning carrying among others three divers, who came down to relieve the men who had been working unceasingly through the night to recover the bodies of those who had perished in the West Jersey and Seashore disaster at Thoroughfare last evening.

The efforts of the new men resulted in the bringing to the surface of

within a few hours. These were taken to the temporary morgue where they were laid out and tagged with numbers while a crowd surged around the doors anxious to get in and view the bodies. All told, 37 dead lay in the improvised morgue and at 10 o'clock suffering persons seeking lost ones were permitted to enter the chamber of death. Most heart rending were the scenes, and men who had worked with strong arms and hearts to bring the bodies from beneath the waters in the Thoroughfare, were moved to tears. Among the most pathetic cases was that of Samuel McElroy, of Philadelphia, who after a sleepless night found his

Family Wiped Out
by the disaster, his wife and five year old daughter lying dead in the morgue and his three year old boy missing. When the officials, making record of the identification asked for his address, the broken hearted man replied: "It was 2029 Green street, but I shall never return there—God only knows where I shall go."

Almost as Pathetic

was the identification of Dr. Paul F. Felsburg, of 1241 Gard avenue, Philadelphia, by his brother. From midnight until dawn the brother with friends pleaded with the police for admittance to the morgue, already satisfied from descriptions furnished by the officials that the physician and his wife, Frances, were among the dead. When the party were admitted they were prepared for the sight that met their gaze, but the physician and his wife were in the morgue.

One among the rows of bodies lying covered with sheet was the corpse of Edy Neis, five years old, of 227 Shawswood street, Philadelphia, who was drowned in the second coach of the ill-fated train. He came to Atlantic City with his father, Earnest, who escaped with his life, but lay critically ill at his brother's home in this city.

The Father Ill
and distracted could not go to the morgue but his sister-in-law identified the body.

A few minutes after ten o'clock, the wrecking crew brought from the water the first car of the train and carried it to the land. The wrecked and broken car contained no bodies, but three bodies were brought up with the lifting of the car from its bed of mud, which seems to bear out the theory advanced by the police early today that some of the bodies may have floated out through windows.

Mayor Stoy's Statement.
Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 29.—Mayor Stoy made the following statement today:

"At the present time I am not prepared to say anything concerning or bearing on the cause of this terrible disaster. An investigation will be conducted, and wherever the blame be longed it will be fixed and the public may depend upon that. Coroner Gaskill and I are one and no man shall get away from us who have had anything to do with the calamity of who may have any light to shed upon it. Coroner Gaskill will before the day is over empanel a jury, but neither of us believe that it will be possible to hold an inquest until the latter part of the week."

Sam Bernard's Nephew Killed.
Atlantic City, Oct. 29.—Emanuel Bernard, of New York, an actor and a nephew of Sam Bernard, the comedian, was among those killed in the accident. Bernard's body was identified shortly after noon today. He was on his way to this city to play a week's engagement in vaudeville at Young's pier.

Engaged Couple Killed.
Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—Miss Matha T. Hensch, aged 26 years, of this city, was among those drowned. Accompanied by Arnold A. Tedesco, a New York traveling man, she boarded the train which was wrecked, to experience the novelty of an electric transit to the seashore. Alarmed at her absence from home over night, a sister of Miss Hensch, went to Atlantic City today, and found her among the dead. Nothing has been heard from Tedesco and it is believed he too, was killed. The couple were about to announce their marriage engagement. The woman was an accomplished musician and was a niece of William H. Zimmerman, president of Arnold and Shaffer Brewing company of this city.

Maine Women Killed.
East Port, Me., Oct. 29.—Two East Port women lost their lives in the wreck at Atlantic City last night. They were Mrs. Cora Bibber Brown, wife of Charles K. Brown, a photographer, and Mrs. Walter F. Bradish. Mrs. Brown was about 44 years old, and was married about two years ago. She was the only daughter of the late Chas. W. Bibber, a prominent dry goods dealer. Mrs. Bradish was about 55 years old and besides a husband, who is a baker, leaves two sons.

Cause of the Wreck.

The wreck occurred at the drawbridge which spans the thoroughfare, a small waterway about one mile outside of this city, just on the eastern edge of the Meadows, and was directly due to the draw failing to work properly. The fishing schooner Sunbad, which was recently wrecked off Winter Quarter shoals light, a short distance from the Delaware breakwater, had just passed through the drawbridge. As the schooner was entering the draw, the electric train hove in sight and started across the Meadows from the direction of Pleasantville. Before the draw had swung into position, three cars which were running at a high rate of speed, dashed onto the trestle. With a lurch, the forward car left the rails and dashed into the guard rail, the other two cars following. At the point where the cars jumped the track the water under the trestle is 20 feet deep. Two cars were instantly submerged, but the third car of the train caught on an abutment and remainder suspended. It was this car from which almost all the injured escaped.

Tide Hindered Divers.

The news of the disaster was quickly telegraphed to this city and in less than an hour the work of rescue had begun. At the time of the accident the tide, which rises about ten feet, was running in and the work of the divers was necessarily slow. It was not until several hours later that the divers were able to make any progress. Then the awful evidences of the disaster became more apparent. When the two cars struck the bottom of the waterway they stood almost on end and the first man to descend reported that the victims were packed in the lower ends of the submerged cars so tightly that it was difficult to move them.

Laid Side by Side.

One by one the bodies were carried to a waiting train and laid side by side, later to be born to this city and placed in the old Empire theatre, which was pressed into service as a temporary morgue. Thousands of persons quickly gathered at the scene of the disaster and a score of boats soon surrounded the spot where the cars disappeared, but they were unable to render any aid, and could only await the arrival of the divers.

Sad Scenes at Morgue.

At the morgue the scenes were pathetic. Persons who had friends on the ill-fated cars crowded about the entrance and were with difficulty restrained from forcing their way into the building. One of the most heart rending incidents was furnished by Frederick Beneckert, who lost his entire family a wife and two children. Beneckert was not informed of the accident until too late to catch a train, and he hurried here in an automobile. When he saw the bodies of his wife and two little boys lying side by side on the cold floor, Beneckert collapsed and had to be carried from the building. Beneckert had intended to come to Atlantic City with his family yesterday, but was unable to get away.

Wanted to See His Wife.

Walter Scott, the motorman, was killed because of his anxiety to spend part of the day with his wife here. It was Scott's custom to run only as far as Millville, but today, he swapped with another motorman and his death was the result.

News Brings Collapse.

Dr. Hudders and his wife were on their way to this city to purchase a cottage and intended visiting Mrs. Gorman, the doctor's sister-in-law, who resides in this city. The latter were at the station awaiting the arrival of the doctor and his wife and when she learned of the accident she collapsed. The bodies of the doctor and his wife were among the last brought in.

MOTORMAN'S FATHER

Warned Him That Some Terrible Catastrophe Would Befall Him.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 29.—Friend of Walter Scott, motorman of the wrecked train, who is among the dead, told a story here last night that Scott had a quarrel with his father and mother in Camden before starting for his day's work. The father, an old locomotive fireman, insisted that the trains run over the electric railway were not safe and said they were sure to come to grief. Mrs. Scott hung on her sons arms and begged him not to take the train out, but the young man brushed his parents aside.

Scott stuck to his controller and threw on the air brakes as his train left the tracks. Survivors say they felt the gripping of the iron shoes on the wheels and the second and third cars slow up. If the coupling had let go, it is possible that only the first coach would have failed off the bridge but the couplings held fast.

Among who are mourning the loss of relatives, is Geo. P. Sweet, manager of the Hotel Walton, Philadelphia, whose sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter P. Bradish, of East Port, Me., was drowned. Mrs. Bradish was returning from a trip to Philadelphia when the accident occurred.

Atterbury Talks.

General Manager Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania said this afternoon:

"I do not believe that Stewart, the bridge tender, said anything like what has been attributed to him regarding the 'jacking up' or alignment of the rails. It is not a fact that when the draw is swung the rails have to be reset. This drawbridge is of the latest improved type. We have nothing to conceal. We don't know what caused the wreck and I don't think we can know until we have seen the trucks of the derailed cars."

When asked the direct question as to his idea of the cause of the wreck, Mr. Atterbury said:

"Perhaps a broken flange or some part of the car's gear gave way."

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused It to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies exactly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured and it became quite popular among them.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price, as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkhams sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until today Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice—and there were thousands—received careful study, and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-earned knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its original passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took up. With women assistants some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

California is anxious to bring off the fight.

BOXING BRIEFS.

Sam Fitzpatrick, who has taken big Jack Johnson, the colored heavyweight champion under his management, is having plenty of trouble trying to induce some of the big fellows to meet Johnson in the ring. The National A. C. of Philadelphia is willing to give 60 per cent of the gross receipts for a six round bout between Johnson and any good man that Fitzpatrick can secure to meet him.

Terry McGovern will not be ready to fight for at least a month. His hands are in such bad shape, that a physician in Brooklyn has advised Terry to give them a rest and not think of fighting again until they are strong.

Reports come from Milwaukee that Joe Gans, should he fail to induce Battling Nelson to fight him at 133 pounds not with his fighting toes nor to weigh in three times before the fight, will take on "Kid" Herman. The latter has been after Nelson and Gans for some time and recently received an offer of $20,000 from Virginia City to fight either of them. Herman accepted the offer and is waiting to hear from Gans.

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien is determined to become the heavyweight champion of the world. After he had knocked out Fred Cooley and Jim Tremble at Los Angeles, both inside of 10 rounds, O'Brien immediately notified all the club match-makers in California that in the event of his winning from Noah Brusso in their 20-round battle on Nov. 29, before the Pacific A. C. of Los Angeles, that he would sign articles of agreement to fight the winner of the Berger Kaufman battle for Jim Jeffries' title. There will be some great bidding for this contest, as every fight promoter in

How to Cure a Cold.
The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested, for the quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger of pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years and says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all druggists.

Ten Years Without a Failure.

Mr. W. C. Bott, a Star City, Ind., his praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to croup, and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamber-

His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy

St. Napoleon.

Many people ignorant of the true history of the church will be scandalized when they read the title of this article.
Let them read it to the end. There was in Corsica some hundred years ago a very pious family called the Bo-napartes. Their first child was born on the 15th of August, Assumption day, and as he looked very small and feeble they wanted him to be baptized without delay. Their priest consented to perform the ceremony, but as it was customary to give to a child the name of the patron saint of his or her birthday the good priest could not and would not call him "Assumption Bonaparte." In his embarrassment he looked carefully over the "Lives of the Saints" and finally found the name of a saint martyr who in the first centuries of the church had been stoned to death on that very day of Aug. 15. Of course neither Mr. nor Mrs. Bonaparte objected that their firstborn child should be named Napoleon, having thus the high patronage of a brave martyr of the early Christian church.— Letter to Philadelphia North American.

A Murder in Poets.

Tennyson is not the only poet laureate whom Regent street has known. Southey relates a ludicrous scrape into which he and Campbell fell one day in the Quadrant. Campbell wished to relieve a poor woman and rushed into the nearest shop to change a sovereign.
The shopkeeper was attending to customers and delayed to oblige him, and the generous poet lost his temper. Thereupon the shopkeeper jumped to the conclusion that he had two rogues to deal with and rashly sent for the police.
Campbell stood in helpless fury, but when Southey explained things to the constable that worthy, who happened to be a Glasgow man, at once exclaimed, "Guidness, mon, is that Maister Campbell, the lord rector of Glasgow?" After that it was difficult to separate Campbell and the shopkeeper, so warmly were their hands interclasped in explanations and forgiveness.—

Cornish Fishermen.

In the estimation of the average Cornish fisherman rabbit is an on-tious word, and should it happen to be used by anyone in their hearing when they are on their way to sea it is sufficient to send them home again for that occasion for fear of accident. In Cornish fishing circles many tales are told of disasters that have followed deference of this superstition and persistence in putting off in their boats after the unlucky word had been spoken.
Formerly the word church was equally obnoxious to the fishermen and was sedulously eschewed in conversation, the witter particularly. If a case arose, as sometimes it would, in which a sacred edifice had necessarily to be referred to, "church" was used instead of church, and whatever was omitted or left in the sound of the latter was imagined to be thereby avoided.

The Innkeeper of England.

England's unpopularity with the Englishman—and the American—is largely due to the country innkeeper.
If any class of public servant ought to be made to pass an examination it is certainly the licensed victualler. writes V. A. V. in the London Sphere, for at present any man may obtain a license without any knowledge of cooking, housekeeping, sanitation—any knowledge of anything but the duty pulling of a beer handle. Moreover, his wife may be the most incompetent of housewives, even for her own family.
On the continent innkeeping is an art to be studied. In England it is too often the refuge of the man who wants an easy chair to sit in.

An Hour Before Dawn.

A curious mystery is the temporary meanness of animals about an hour before dawn, no matter at what hour this occurs. Children turn and moan, elderly people awaken and turn over for another sleep, cocks crow, dogs become meazy and horses and cattle move about for a short period, when stillness returns for a time. What is the cause? Are the animals affected by some magnetic wave which precedes sunlight an hour or so, or is the habit one of heredity passed down through numberless generations from an original wild state, when an alertness just before daylight was necessary for protection from enemies?

England the Land of Flowers.

I know not why Italy rather than England should be called the land of flowers. The truth is that the English people are an art loving one and that in England more than in any region of Italy or country of Europe flowers are in evidence everywhere and, with the grasses and plants and universal vegetation, are more intimately and perennially intertwined with human existence itself.—Naples D. Mattino.

der will not make you a good husband, Clara. Clara—Why not, mamma?
Mamma—Because it seems to me that he rather neglects his personal appearance. Clara—Yes, that's true, mamma, and I'm glad you mentioned it. I'll see that he makes his personal appearance here every evening after this instead of only twice a week.

TOUR OF OHIO
By the Great Nebraskan Is Closed.Was a Triumphant March Through Congress-al Districts.

CAPTURED VAN WERT

On Saturday Where the End Came in Halo of Glory.Roosevelt Needs Support and Democrats Can Give It.

W. J. Bryan's tour of Ohio ended at Van Wert Saturday night. From the beginning to the end of the thousand-mile journey the Nebraskan's appeal has been made to republicans. They are asked to support President Roosevelt by opposing his party.

"Come with us to reform your own party," was Bryan's plea.
President Roosevelt was praised in every address. Bryan says he deserves it, because he has adopted democratic doctrines. But with the praise is condemnation. Roosevelt is good in so far as he is radical, Bryan says. He is bad because he does not go to the limit of radicalism.

The one thing which stands out most prominently as a result of the Bryan meetings, is the general disapproval of the course of the Ohio senators in opposition to President Roosevelt and the Dayton convention resolutions. Bitter as the Bryan invective against them is, it never fails to argue unlimited enthusiasm. It is the one thing on which both republicans and democrats, who hear him, unite.
Bryan says the vast majority of republicans are with Roosevelt and against the senators. "The audience gives a unanimous and hearty cheer of approval."

In planning the present tour, Chairman Garber included several towns in which Bryan had never appeared before. In these places a large percentage of the audience was republican.

Women, too, were out in large numbers. At the stations where speeches were made from the rear of the train, children had their first glimpse of him. The excitement was too much for them, and several times Bryan had to request them to give him a chance to talk.

Schools Were Dismissed.

Many schools were dismissed for the event. Children marched to the station in charge of their teachers, who counted the time away from books a part of the education for citizenship.

There has been no apathy. In the three days' tour, Bryan has talked to 100,000 people at 39 stops. Almost without exception the listeners have been more attentive than those the Nebraskan is accustomed to addressing.

The addresses are varied to suit each community. A democratic audience hears a straight, old-fashioned party talk; audiences containing republicans are entertained with an appeal for independent voting. There has been no admonition for independent democratic voting. In the northwestern part of the state the appeal to democrats who did not vote for Parker was to get out this year and support the democratic ticket.

Roosevelt Needs Support.

"Roosevelt needs support," says Bryan at every stop, "and we want to give it to him." He then declares it can only be done with a democratic congress which will begin reforms to-be completed two years later by a democratic administration. Bryan democratic administration.

Makes Fifteen Addresses.

On the trip today, 15 addresses were made in six districts. The third got three, Fourth four, Fifth one, Sixth one, Seventh three, Eleventh one.
The closing at Van Wert was within 25 miles of Ft. Wayne, Ind., where the Ohio party met Bryan after his tour through that state. The Nebraskan returns to Iowa for two days, and speaks in his own state until the election. He will spend Sunday in Chicago.

The opera house was used at Lancaster the first stop. John J. Lentz entertained a large audience until Bryan's arrival. Discussing bossism and corruption in politics, Mr. Bryan said that only a year ago it became necessary for a cabinet officer to come to Ohio and speak against the boss.
The conscience of the state responded to this appeal and the boss was overthrown by the election of Patterson.

Boss Is Still Powerful.

He asked to have the work continued by the election of Hoskins as secretary of state because the boss is still powerful. He urged the election of Judge Oliver Wendell Holmes Wright to congress because his sympathies are with the people and he is against government by injunction.

George Hange, a blacksmith living more than 12 miles from town, was at the meeting of his twin sons, William Jennings Hange and John Lentz Hange. He left home at four o'clock that the boys might shake hands with Bryan. In the '96 campaign Mr. Lentz held a meeting near Hange's shop. At its conclusion he was asked into the house to see the yet unnamed twins.

A stop to transfer the train was necessary at Morrow. Bryan and ex-Governor Campbell talked briefly.
The first Third district meeting, at Middletown, was held in the opera house. It was packed with over 2500 people. As many more were turned away. A special train from Hamilton brought 1800.

Campbells Are Coming.

The time was limited, and Mr. Bryan talked faster than anybody ever heard him before in a public address. In opening he paid a neat tribute to Governor Campbell, when he said:

"Last March, on the opposite side of this globe, I visited a place where a large number of British were imprisoned during the uprising of the Savoyards, and I was in the room where a little Scotch maiden had a vision of the coming of Colonel Campbell, and when he came next day and resued that besieged garrison. It gave the origin and the theme for two speeches that you have listened to today, and the presence of this magnificent audience makes it unnecessary for one to know that the 'Campbells are coming again.'"

"Here 10 years ago I was introduced to Governor Campbell, and I am glad to be back now when he is a candidate for congress and speak in his behalf. This county was one of the strong democratic counties, and remember it gave me a majority of 2800, and I want you to give it as large a majority this year for Governor Campbell as you did for me 10 years ago."

Garber Gave Most Support.

Bryan made at Middletown the first reference to the democratic delegation in the present congress, as follows:

"I want to say to you that the president has received more support from Mr. Garber, the only democratic congressman from this state, than he has received from the two republican senators. He will receive more support from Mr. Campbell, who will stand by the president on every reform measure. If elected he will go to the president and say to him, 'Go ahead now, go as far as you want, and go as fast as you want.'"

At Franklin was found the first audience that could not fairly be called big. Raw, windy weather was probably responsible.

A crowd of 300 was present at Miamisburg. Comparing the explanations of Senators Foraker and Dick of their opposition to President Roosevelt, Bryan told a story of a farmer boy who ran away from home to go on the stage. When he got back he was asked if he was not successful and called before the curtain.

"Yes," he replied, "but after the first act they dared me to come out." Bryan thinks the people will dare the senators to change their opposition to Roosevelt from a bushwhacking to an open enemy.

Speaks From Train at Dayton.

Only a rear platform speech was made at Dayton. The train was one hour late, but thousands waited in the cold raw wind against which Bryan spoke to 5000 at Main street. Practically all were voters. As it was the scene of the republican convention, the senators got a special touch. The crowd belonged to Campbell. He was cheered at every opportunity. As the train pulled out, the crowd ran after it over a block to touch Bryan's hand.
Several were knocked over in the scramble. Some of the most enthusiastic were residents of the Soldiers' Home in uniform.

When Chairman Garber sent word ahead that unless the crowd was at the train no stop would be made at Troy, the audience deserted the small opera house in a hurry and were waiting 2500 strong. Bryan endorsed that part of Taft's Akron speech, which declared that the boss was in politics for a pecuniary gain. He then spoke on franchises, a subject touched several times during the day.

Senators Played Hypocrite.

Bryan declared that all the corruption in politics could be traced to the grat about public service franchises.
Referring to the Ohio senators, Bryan said that if they believed Roosevelt was wrong they should not have played the hypocrite by endorsing him. The Seventh district was left at Troy.

The entry to the only district now represented by a democrat, the Fourth, furnished the first hall available that did not pack the inclosure.
About 1200 were in the Sidney armory, but several hundred more could have crowded in. Bryan took advantage of the situation to discuss money.
He claimed that if the per capita circulation was the same as ten years ago, there would be no prosperity. As the home district of Chairman Garber, the latter was again praised for supporting Roosevelt. Not until the tour was drawing to a close did Bryan men-

Do You Like Honest, Square Dealing?

Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines are put out under the belief that publicity is the best possible guaranty of merit, and that the most intelligent people generally want to know what they take into their stomachs, whether it be as food, drink or medicine. Although it was a bold step to take, and quite out of the usual practice of makers of proprietary medicines, yet Dr. Pierce, some time ago, decided to publish broadcast and on all his bottle-wrappers all the ingredients entering into the composition, or make-up, of his celebrated family medicines. A square deal is therefore assured every one using his medicines, for one knows exactly what he or she is paying for when purchasing them, since every ingredient is published in plain English on the bottle-wrappers and the correctness of the same attested under solemn oath. These several ingredients are selected from among the very best known to medical science for the cure of the various diseases for which these medicines are recommended.

The most eminent and leading medical teachers and writers of all the several schools of practice have endorsed each of the ingredients entering into Dr.
Pierce's medicines in the strongest possible terms. The makers of Dr. Pierce's medicines believe that intelligent people do not wish to open their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulp down whatever is presented to them, either in the way of food, drink or medicine.
They know that the "secret" of the properties and harmful character of the agents employed. They believe that health is too sacred a heritage to be experimented with, and that people should not take medicines of the composition of which they are kept in ignorance. Dr. Pierce's medicines are made wholly from the roots of plants found growing in the depths of our American forests. They are so compounded that they cannot do harm in any case, even to the most delicate woman or child. By open publicity Dr. Pierce has taken his medicines out of the list of secret nostrums, of doubtful merit, and made them REMEDIES OF KNOWN COMPO-SITION. They are therefore, in a class all by themselves, being absolutely and in every sense non-secret.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

There is a badge of honesty on every bottle of Dr. Pierce's medicines in the full list of its ingredients duly attested as correct under solemn oath.

No other medicines put up for general use through druggists can make claim to any such distinction, and none other than Dr. Pierce's medicines have any such professional endorsement of their ingredients. Such professional endowment should have far more weight with the afflicted than any amount of lay or non-professional endorsement, or testimonials.

Of course, the exact proportion of each ingredient used in Dr. Pierce's medicines as well as the working formula or manner of preparing the same, and the specially devised apparatus and appliances employed in their manufacture, are withheld from public view. Dr.
Pierce's proprietary rights may be fully protected from such unprincipled imitators as might be piratically inclined.
The preparation of these medicines without the use of a drop of alcohol, so tion the Cincinnati boss by name.

Boss Is With Senators.
At Versailles, speaking of bossism, he said: "That boss is in the saddle today, for he is with the senators and against the president. This Dayton convention, controlled by Cox and the senators, nominated the ticket."

Bryan introduced W. W. Taftelli, congressional candidate, and he talked as the train pulled out. Chairman Garber, at Ansonia left the train, after conducting a successful tour. A special train brought the delegation from Greenville, Garber's old home.
Bryan said President Roosevelt and Foraker are farther apart than the president and democracy. He promised an assault on predatory wealth in two years. The most restless audience of the trip which was at Celina, listened intently in the cold while Bryan talked anti-imperialism and against a big army and navy.

generally employed and yet so harmful exactly what they are taking when using his medicines.

What Do They Cure? This question is often asked concerning Dr.
Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative and healing way upon all the mucous lining surfaces of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large percentage of the following diseases:

Disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchitis, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous diarrhea), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or plurative stages of these affections, it is often successful in effecting a cure.

The "Favorite Prescription" is used for the cure of one class of diseases only —those peculiar weaknesses, derangements and irregularities incident to women. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve. For weak, worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sincerely confidential. Address: Dr. R.
Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 cent stamp for paper-covered, or 31 cents for cloth-bound copy. Address

AN ECHO COMES

In the Sensational Miller Troubles.

Mrs. Watkins, Wife of the Co-Respondent, Brings Suit

CHARGES INFIDELITY.

Shirtlet Brothers Being Tried in the Criminal Court.

General News of the Capitol and Legal matters of a Day.

After Mr. and Mrs. Ivy L. Miller have buried their differences, and the husband has withdrawn the charges of immorality which threatened to break up a home, and leave two small children either fatherless or motherless, the third silent party in the sensational allegations which filled in court pleadings several months ago, has, through her counsel, renewed the charges in an echo of the Miller episode.

The plaintiff in this new action for divorce, at the time of the Miller suit filed pleadings for alimony, but did not ask for a decree. Today she has filed her petition making but one single charge against her husband, as just court grounds for a divorce.

The plaintiff causing this echo of an almost forgotten past, is Mrs. Blanche M. Watkins, and she named her husband, A. Verden Watkins, former Lima dentist, later of Spencerville as defendant. Mrs. Watkins recites she was married to defendant, in Covington, Ky., May 26, 1903, and that no children were born to the union. She then recites the one cause of action. Her prayer is for absolute divorce and restoration to her maiden name of Blanche May Hershuhl.

IF THE WIDOW WELLS

She Loses Immediately Farms in Allen and Van Wert Counties.

The will of Michael Stippich, late of Delphos, this county, was admitted to probate court this morning, and on the declaration of the widow to act as executor, Wm. J. Steidle, was named administrator with will annexed. Deceased leaves an estate of farm lands and real estate valued near the $10,000 mark. All of this he gives to the widow, but with a proviso, and should Mrs. Stippich re-marry she will then become disposed of and the real estate must be conveyed to deceased's three children. This is recited in Item 1, of the last will and testament which after the usual preamble bequeathing all of his property to Mrs. Stippich, deceased says: "Provided she shall remain my widow until her death." But should she re-marry, deceased states, she shall have the property only until that date.

THE RECORDER'S HORSE

Its Alleged Purchase by Shirtlets is Now on Trial.

Whether or not the two aged Van Wert county brothers, Edward and Charles Shirtlet, purchased the stolen horse of County Recorder Fred Zeitz, knowing said animal to have been stolen by others now serving time for that crime, is being investigated by the criminal court and a jury today. The defense is being made for the gray-haired brothers by Attorney M. A. Atmure with Prosecutor Welty in charge for the state. As there is but little testimony at hand, a verdict should be had before the supper hour.

FEW PURCHASES

Made by Her Husband in Course of Three Years.

The first divorce action tried to Judge Cunningham today was continued for lack of evidence. It was the action of Pearl Lansdowne vs. her husband Claude. The couple had been living at the home of the husband's parents where the wife said had been told to get out and was slapped to her mother-in-law. The court cautions the counsel stating the mother-in-law was not on trial. Little evidence was produced showing trouble between husband and wife, more than her claim that she was not supported and that her husband had purchased at a pair of hose, and one other small item of wearing apparel during her entire wedded life. Later she admitted getting a suit and a $5 bill but did not know it came from him. He pleaded illness as the cause of their ever having lived at his parents' home, and the case was continued pending evidence to be given by Mrs. Huntley and Clarence, his physicians.

Fifteen Years Absence.

Lidia M. Van Meter was granted a divorce from her husband John Y. Van Meter, on the grounds of fifteen years' willful absence.

She Had Bad Associates.

Emil Hook made out a case of sideswipes against his wife, and was granted a decree from Clara Hook.

Willful Absence.

Joseph P. Garner, under the thirty day rule, was granted a decree from his wife, Clara A. Garner, on the grounds of three years willful absence. They were married in this city in 1902 and have no children.

Wedded Twenty-Seven Years.

Husband and wife who have fought together for the past twenty-seven years faced each other in the divorce court this afternoon. They were brought into court on the petition of Hannah Gilmer who charged her husband, Peter, with three years habitual drunkenness and neglect. The couple married in 1880 or earlier, the date not being prominently set out, and have a child 26 years of age. Coming to this city ten years ago they have accumulated two residence properties, and the husband is seeking to retain this property. The case has not been finished.
